These must be paid for in advance, or charged to responsible parties ordering the same.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1911

Champ Clark declares that the country needs more politicians. It is very evident that Clark does not know conditions in Mahoning county. Politicians are so numerous here that there is hardly standing room for the other fellow.

While the powers that be have ruled that the prohibition ticket cannot be printed on the official ballot this fall because of the small vote cast last fall, less than two per cent of the vote, it is a safe guess that the prohibitionists will get busy with petitions and secure enough signatures to put the party in the running in November.

President Taft left Boston last Friday night on a speaking tour of 13,000 miles, which embraces 24 states and will continue until Nov. 1. He and his party travel by special train and have been enthusiastically received thus far on the trip. While all listeners do not agree with the notions expressed by the President the fact is realized that he is chief executive of the greatest nation in the world and on this score is entitled to a most cordial reception.

ROSEMONT

Sept. 20—George Grose is sick. Mrs. Edward Wellington and daughters of Pittsburgh have returned home after a week's visit with Mrs. Frank Williams.

Joseph Cossina had business in Youngstown, Saturday.

W. J. Dickson of Canfield was here Saturday evening.

Miss Blanche Frock of Kirk is here spending a few days with her brother, Dwight Kimmel, having passed the Patterson examination, is attending school in North Jackson.

Dwight Kimmel and Thad Rose are attending the high school in North Jackson.

The Jewish New Year.

Jewish New Year's Day falls on Saturday, September 23, and this day begins the Jewish year of 5,672.

In many respects the Jew will celebrate on Saturday much as the Gentile will on January 1. He will make good resolutions, he will close up his place of business, he will send postal cards to his friends, he will meet his friends with the greeting: "A good year."

The attitude of the Jew toward this holiday is much more reverent, however, than that of the Gentile. "Rosh Hashannah," as the Jew calls New Year's, is the most solemn day of the calendar next to Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

It begins with services in the synagogues at sunset Friday and lasts until sunset Saturday. New Year's is a day of self examination and self-judgment. The solemn ceremony of blowing the "shofar," or ram's horn, is celebrated to arouse the conscience to this task.

Among orthodox Jews attainment of this object is also sought by setting aside a few days before New Year's for the recital in the synagogue of penitential prayers. This continues until the eve of the day of atonement.

The "selihot," chanted in the minor key before dawn in the dimly lit houses of worship, sound the note of grief and contrition for the sins of the past year.

DAMASCUS

The wedding of Miss Zoa C. Miles of this place and Joseph Guindon of Bristol, Vermont took place Wednesday morning at half past nine. After the wedding the guests went to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Miles, where an elaborate wedding dinner was served. The young couple will make their home at Bristol, Vermont.

It takes a brave barber to beard a lion in his den.

YOUNGSTOWN

The local market-house is getting up earlier in the morning and is doing big strokes of business. The trade last Saturday was very large, the line of vehicles reaching from Spring Common or down Boardman to Phelps and occupying a part of that as closely as they could be wedged in on the south side of Boardman, very many of the rigs belonging to farmers and gardeners. The whole agitation to have that stopped in the market-house and on city property until 10 o'clock or along there in the forenoon. It looks now as if the market, if not the market-house itself, would be a good go, though both have been fought by men in office who by right should do all in their power to make the market a success.

From time to time you may see something about the vast steel works here and sometimes you may hear it said they are given too much notice and complacency, but neither would be likely possible, for this city's greatest growth, and perhaps its greatest prosperity, have been since the advent of these same colossal steel plants became a chief manufacturing enterprise here. To these plants perhaps more than anything else does the city's wide extension and its constant increase. There is a Steel town here and this is now also a steel town.

Little or nothing has been lately heard of the gigantic Ship Canal, may be for the reason this is yet the vacation period. But all the same the interest now seems slight and there is no appearance of surface excitement. It was predicted in the beginning of the 3-state uproar that the finale would be a fizzle, for it was and is unlikely the great railroads, almost as powerfully would tolerate such a people's measure or project and competitor.

Joseph Weiss has filed his expense account in the mayoralty contest and places the amount expended at $430. While it is true Joe failed to win he gave the other candidates a race, the like of which never before was witnessed in this city.

The sheriff of Portage county was here Sunday looking for a team of horses that had been stolen from a Ravenna liveryman and traced this far, but nothing could be found of the missing animals.

Several hundred citizens accompanied the Pennsylvania excursion to Columbus last Sunday. On account of washouts, due to the recent storm, it was Monday morning before the pilgrims were able to get back to the city.

Dr. Hiram Kellogg of Columbus has been secured to deliver three addresses before the Mahoning County Sunday school convention to be held in this city next month.

Albert Webber, 10-year-old son of Fred Webber, was struck by an automobile driven by R. H. Wilkinson, Jr., Sunday morning, while coming from church, and fatally injured. This is the third child to be killed by automobiles within two weeks.

Diamond Hive of Maccabees had a grand review and social in P. H. C. hall Wednesday night.

John H. Moore has a fine farm out the other side of Lanterman's Falls and if that extension of the Park & Falls is made to Canfield he will be strictly in it. He can do business in the city while living like a king in the country, spending only a few minutes each day on street cars.

Margaret Holliday, the Lisbon girl who has been figuring in a sensational case at Youngstown, is a great seeker of the limelight. She boasted to Prosecutor Beard the other day that she had 51 dresses. He advised her to wear a whole one the next time she came to Youngstown to testify. The judge does that pictures were taken of her in the nude.

Council has passed an ordinance limiting the speed of automobiles in the business district to eight miles an hour. The speed zone is between Himrod avenue on the east and Westlake's crossing on the west. Ridge avenue on the south and the Erie tracks on the north. The ordinance also prohibits the running of automobiles by persons under 18 years of age. For a long time it has been the practice of mere kids to go racing about the city in powerful cars, a menace to all who happened to be on the streets. Automobile accidents have been frequent in the city of late and council hopes to change this order of things.

Mighty soon after the November election candidates for county offices to be filled next year will be hotfooting it about city and country seeking support. This will be particularly true of gentlemen of the republican faith as they feel reasonably certain of winning the plums.

Jimmy McKoon will give Dan Jones a mighty hard run for city auditor, even though Dan is a republican and Jim a democrat.

Business along many lines continues to drag, and the cause no one seems to understand. There is no getting away from the fact that some tradesmen have to hustle early and late to make ends meet to say nothing about profit.

Thirteen churches have united to carry on another evangelistic campaign, if the services of Henry Ostrom can be secured. The city will be divided into four sections and the largest church in each section will be used for the services instead of erecting a central tabernacle.

Several hundred Methodist ministers and laymen are attending the annual East Ohio Conference of the M. E. Church in this city. The sessions are held in Trinity church. John O. Pew presided at the opening session Tuesday night. Many matters of importance to the church are being considered. The ministerial appointments for the coming year will not be made until the first of next week.

Jewish people will celebrate their New Year's festival, beginning at sundown Friday and ending at sunset Saturday. Services will be held in their churches Friday evening. Many local stores will be closed Saturday.

Two boys caused some excitement at the county children's home on Glenwood avenue Monday night when they made a noise like trying to rob the place. When the matron was called to the door they flourished revolvers, but when she ran to the telephone and called the police the youthful robbers took to their heels.

Richard Jones of Kline's Corners, near Girard, died in the City hospital Tuesday morning of tetanus. While butchering a week before he sustained an injury which finally resulted in lockjaw.

Ten homes in the city are quarantined on account of diphtheria. No trouble to bump into a bargain sale in this city. They hang out on nearly every business street.

The selection of John J. O'Connor as chairman of the democratic campaign committee is the best that could have been made. John is a live wire and what he does not know about the game of politics is hardly worth acquiring. He will make the gentleman at the head of the republican committee go a few and then some.

Cut in steel prices means a cut in wages for the men, which is not pleasing to thousands in this valley. Paving of Hillman street drags along rather wearily.

President Ban Johnson of the American League is said to be the backer of Jim McAlleer in the purchase of a half interest in the Boston club. The price paid was approximately $150,000 and Jimmy is said to have come across with $25,000. It is expected that he will give up his residence in this city and locate in Boston. McAlleer will manage the Boston Americans next season.

In the McConnell divorce case recently reopened, Samuel McConnell has filed a petition making serious charges against his former wife who a short time ago married Dallas Brown of Ellsworth. He seeks possession of the children which were placed in charge of the mother at the time she was granted a divorce.

The court house building commission has been dissolved. Geo. Rose, A. E. Adams and other capitalists have organized a tailoring company which has been incorporated and will do an extensive men's-tailoring business in this city.

Of 92 foreign-born men who applied for citizenship papers last week, 42 were admitted to citizenship, 32 continued until the January term of court and 18 were refused.

John Green, the grand juror who was sent to jail for five days by Judge Barnum for contempt of court, because he was drunk and impudent, was released from jail Saturday after having served four days. He was very meek and declared he would never touch liquor again.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. has let contracts for extensions to its plant that will cost $400,000.

Between steam, street and auto cars a lot of people lose their lives in this city in the course of a year.

The damage case of Hugh Jones against the M. V. street car company which has been in the courts since 1904 has been settled out of court. Jones was given a verdict of $11,000 against the company in one of the trials. It is not generally known what the basis of settlement was, but no doubt $4,000 is the near figure. Mr. Jones had his neck broken in an accident and still lives although his health is very poor.

The annual conference of the North Ohio A. M. 12 church is being held in this city. Bishop W. B. Derrick is presiding.

The Elm street viaduct spanning Andrews hollow was thrown open for traffic last Saturday.

Salvation Army is planning to erect a tabernacle in this city.

Official report shows that the new court house and jail, including the land, cost $1,937,234.44. Of this amount the building commission received nearly $32,000 and the architects over $69,000.

Forty cases of diphtheria in the city. Attorney W. T. Gibson will probably be a candidate on the democratic ticket for delegate to the constitutional convention.

C. L. McCambridge, aged 28, who was prominent as an educator in leading Catholic seminaries and preparing for the priesthood, died Wednesday.

John W. Davis Candidate For Probate Judgeship

The people of the country greet with just pride the fact that they will have such excellent timber as Mr. Davis from which to select their candidate for Probate Judge at the Republican primaries next Spring, for he is another example of the man with the moral training of country life, making good in the city.

Mr. Davis is a Mahoning county product, having been born and reared in Austintown township, and like many other country boys he fought against hard and discouraging odds.

John W. Davis

stacles to obtain his education, working on the farm and in the mines and iron industries to provide means to obtain the same.

On leaving the Normal College in Canfield he taught school for a number of years, after which he went to Columbus, Ohio, for his legal training, and graduated from the Law College of the Ohio State University in 1903, since which time he has been in active practice as a member of the Mahoning County Bar.

His legal ability and moral standard are of the highest type, which, together with his considerate disposition as a result of the impressions of the Ohio State University in 1903, since which time he has been in active practice as a member of the Mahoning County Bar.

The clapper of the high school bell has been returned and now all is lovely again. The clapper was not taken by high school boys, as was suspected, but by other lads whose names are known.

Lisbon's Mayor Good Samaritan.

In this day and generation when business is a controlling thought and the milk of human kindness is believed to be a thing of the forgotten past, it is refreshing to find a man willing to go to the length of plucking off his shoe and passing it to the stranger in distress. But such a man has been discovered, yes, actually found. It came about thusly: An automobile party at the Lisbon fair was leaving the grounds when a spark plug or something slipped an eccentric and the machine stopped dead on the race course. Hundreds passed, smiling at the discomfort of the autoists as they searched in vain for the cause of the motor's failure to pulsate. But the good Samaritan appeared. He and the friend drove up in a car and unostentatiously volunteered to be of any service possible in starting the stranded car their way. He took a hand, but like the others was unable to coax a spark from the juice receptacle through the plugs. When he lit it was with encouraging words—"If you can't find the trouble telephone 62-L." But he didn't wait to be called. He came with a rope and in short order towed the disabled machine into a garage where the kinks were straightened out. And all this kindness, to strangers, people whom he had never seen before and probably would never see or hear of again. Such a man is John H. Hinchliffe, mayor of Lisbon, who has made a name for himself by having for his rule and guide, "kindness, thoughtfulness and a square deal for all." Lisbon has reason to be proud of her chief executive.

Edward Swanton of Boardman township was in the Hub Wednesday morning calling on friends and acquaintances.

FIVE PER CENT.

The most potent of all the features of our business toward enabling us to pay FIVE PER CENT. is the distribution of profits. Instead of paying extra dividends to a limited number of preferred stockholders, all the profits of our business are divided among all the depositors. One man's dollars receives the same rate as another man's thousands. Purely mutual in character, we deal with all alike and offer the same reward to one that we do to another. If you deposit your savings with us you get all the profit that those savings earn. No part of it goes to increase the gains of a preferred stockholder.
